

SCORES OF UNIFORMED GUIDES WILL CARE FOR THE VETERANS

Selection Made From Cadets of the Various District Schools—Brilliant Badges and Neat Costumes Are to Be Worn.

The list of High School cadets selected to act as guides for the public comfort committee during the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic was made public last evening by Mr. M. I. Weller, the chairman of the committee. The list comprises one hundred names. These young men will be divided into two companies known as Company A and Company B, each company comprising fifty youths. They have been assigned to duty so that each company, or section, will perform three tricks of duty of approximately nine hours each.

Each member of the corps of guides will be provided with a distinctive badge of red ribbon lettered in gold. The young men will be called together within the next few days for their final instructions, and for the presentation of their badges and other matter. They will be under the immediate charge of Mr. Percy Hughes, who made the selections. The cadets will receive adequate compensation for their work. The guides are:

Where Committee Will Serve.

Chairman Weller is further engaged in the assignment of the members of his committee to duty at the several stations, and with the purpose of accommodating his requirements to the convenience of his members has sent to each member of the committee an inquiry as to the choice of the members of assignment to duty.

"Every member is expected, unless prevented by illness or absence from the city, to serve from two to four hours daily at one of the railroad stations to furnish information and tender courtesies to guests. Committee badges will be furnished free of charge to all members who are willing to perform the duties assigned to them."

Arrangements for the erection of the tent on the reservation adjoining the Pennsylvania depot for the use of the public comfort committee at that point have been completed and the tent will be erected Friday evening or Saturday morning. This tent will be 36 by 25 feet in size, will be provided with all necessary tables and chairs, and will be handsomely decorated. A desk will be put aside for the use of the representative of the woman's public comfort committee.

Public Toilet Service.

An important convenience with which the public comfort committee is charged, and one that will be more complete than ever before in its details, will be the public toilet arrangements. Four of the most complete stations ever erected here will be thrown open to the public on Sunday morning. They will be located at the corners of Seventh and C Streets northwest, Thirteenth and E Streets northwest, Fourteenth and E Streets northwest, and Seventeenth and E Streets northwest. The underground connectors will be made permanent, so that at any future time connections can be made at a minimum cost.

The stations will be thoroughly equipped, separate apartments being provided for the sexes. The accommodations provided for the women include mirrors, water, basins, soap, comb, curlers at the windows, and a cot for those who may become ill. The attendants will not be permitted to accept fees, except for clean towels, for which they will be permitted to charge 5 cents each. These accommodations will be opened Sunday morning, and will be closed Friday night. Those for the men will be open from 7 o'clock in the morning until 11 at night, while those for the women will be opened two hours later, and will close at 9 o'clock in the evening.

President Grants Leave.

Mr. George B. Cortelyou, Secretary to the President, yesterday notified Chairman Warner that President Roosevelt had intimated to the heads of the various Government departments and to the Public Printer that if they would excuse on Tuesday next such naval veterans as could be spared, without detriment to the public service, and who desired to participate in the naval veterans' parade, it would meet with his approval. He stated further that the executive order closing the departments on Wednesday had no bearing upon any other day.

During the encampment the Capitol Building will be open to visitors from early in the morning until late at night. The building has been put into perfect condition for the next Congress, and the entire place will take on gala attire.

The searchlights that have been loaned by the Navy Department and that will play their powerful lights from every direction upon the big white dome will be placed in position within the next few days and all arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors in the big building on the hill will be completed.

The Pension Office also presents a busy scene, the workmen already having begun the erection of the elaborate decorations. The startling feats of Merritt, the noted steely climber, in placing the overhead work occupied the attention of visitors to the Pension Office yesterday. In the evening the court will be brilliantly illuminated and the veterans will have the opportunity to inspect the factory that turns out life pensions.

Army of Detectives.

Arrangements have also been completed by Major Sylvester for the apprehension of the light fingered gentry who may be attracted to the city by the crowds. In addition to the squad of Pinkerton detectives, under the veteran Seymour Butler, which the railroad company will keep busy on the trains, Capt. James McDevitt, of this city, and half a hundred of the shrewdest and best posted sleuths of the East will be brought to the city for the occasion.

Among those who will be brought here are Thomas P. Hogan, Mark Hagan, Thomas P. O'Donnell, and W. F. L. Miller, Baltimore; Doughy, Bond, Tate, and Gallagher, Philadelphia; Detective Sergts. W. F. Clark and W. F. Peabody, New York city; William Burke and Henry M. Pierce, Boston; Sergeant Glori, Newark; Michael Doyle and Frank Bennett, Jersey City; C. C. Sanderson, Kansas City; Thomas L. Hy and John Dowd, Detroit; John McDermott and John Schuck, Cincinnati; Thomas Maher, Louisville; Capt. J. G. Reynolds and Sgt. Antonio Vacchi, Brooklyn; Thomas C. Johnson and Philip McDonough, Allegheny; Thomas Wren, Richmond; John Kelly and W. Lee Killian, St. Louis; Detective Asch, Indianapolis; Lieut. John McWeeny and Sergt. Louis Beck, Chicago; William McManus and Jacob Langbeimer, Milwaukee; Capt. Victor Plotte, New Orleans; Albert Swinehart and James Egan, Pittsburgh; W. H. R. Wilson, Albany; Sergt. J. J. Lynch and L. W. Henafet, Buffalo; Capt. B. H. Richards, Newport.

Features by the Women.

Four distinct features provided by Mrs. Mussey and her assistants for the entertainment of the visiting women are the issuance of a separate souvenir program by the women's organizations; a big campfire to be conducted by the women alone; the maintenance of a reunion tent along with the men, carrying with it the appointment of Mrs. Mussey to the position of corps commander; and the holding of a large joint reception by all the women's organizations.

At this reception some of the most distinguished ladies of the land will be present in the receiving party, which will include the wives of nearly all of the prominent officers of the G. A. R. Mrs. Mussey believes that this reception, which is to take place at Convention Hall Wednesday night, will be the largest and most successful gathering of the kind in the history of the organizations taking part. Nothing of the kind has ever before been attempted.

General orders convening the Woman's Veteran Relief Union in Washington during the Grand Army of the Republic encampment have been received by Mrs. Mussey, chairman of the woman's auxiliary committee. They are issued in the name of Mrs. Belle S. Morgan, national president, by Rose B. Tyrrel, the national secretary.

The orders convene the national meeting of the order at Concordia Hall, northwest corner of Sixth and E Streets northwest, at 9:30 a. m., October 3. Headquarters of the national president are at the National Hotel.

Army Nurses Coming.

Seventy-five nurses are to attend the meeting of the National Association of Army Nurses, to be held here during the encampment. According to Miss Kate M. Scott, national secretary of this body, this is the largest number ever assembled at any similar convention.

Headquarters have been located for the Woman's Auxiliary, National Association Union Ex-Prisoners of War, at the Ebbitt House. The convention of this body will be called to order Tuesday, at 522 Sixth Street northwest, and not as heretofore announced.

The Modoc Club, of Topeka, Kan., has notified Mrs. Mussey through its president, Maj. Gen. T. J. Anderson, that it will assist at the woman's reception on Wednesday evening.

The resident members of Shields' Division will meet at encampment headquarters, 1405 New York Avenue, this evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Final reports of committees will be submitted, and program for the reunion on October 9 arranged. Badges will be distributed at this meeting.

Veteran Signal Corps.

An announcement of the reunion of the United States Veteran Signal Corps Association has been issued, convening

Members of Citizens' Public Comfort Committee Are Also Assigned to Labors in Various Sections of the City.

The members October 7, in Odd Fellows Hall, at 9 a. m. The program for the day is contained in the announcement. This includes an address at 2 p. m. by General Greeley, Chief Signal Officer, United States Army, also remarks by a number of other speakers. The annual dinner will take place in the hall in the afternoon. Arrangements have been made for excursions to the historic battlefields in which the association is interested.

The meetings announced for tonight include the Engineer Corps, Shields' Division, and the Daughters of Veterans, all at encampment headquarters, 1405 New York Avenue northwest.

Reception Is Planned.

At the meeting of the entertainment committee at the Riggs House last night it was decided to hold a large reception Thursday evening, October 9, in Convention Hall, for the entertainment of the delegates to the encampment. This entertainment will take the place of the excursion down the river, which had been planned for the veterans. It will be strictly for the men, as the committee has decided to exclude members of the fair sex, and despite great discussion on this point the decision will hold. Major J. E. Bell has been made chairman of a committee of comfort for that night.

The ambulance committee, of which Dr. Frank E. Gibson is chairman, met last night, and the members received instructions as to their location during the several parades.

Relief Corps Meeting.

The Woman's Relief Corps committee held the largest meeting last night since preparations for the encampment were begun. In the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Oldroyd, who was compelled to leave early, owing to the illness of her daughter, the meeting was in charge of the vice chairman, Mrs. Annie W. Johnson. Reports from the chairmen of the various subcommittees were read. It was expected that the corps badges would be distributed last night, but the ribbons have not arrived. They will, however, be ready for distribution at the next meeting.

A meeting of the visiting staff of the medical committee was held last night and appointments made for the week. The physicians and the days on which they will be in attendance at the general hospital are as follows: Monday and Tuesday, Drs. J. F. Moran, W. C. P. Hazen, and C. B. Dufour; Wednesday and Thursday, W. F. Graham, E. W. Reisinger, J. S. Morgan, and Arthur Snyder; Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, W. B. French, B. L. Harden, E. L. Tompkins, and R. A. Warner.

CHAIRMANSHIP STORY DENIED BY LEADER

Both Postmaster General Payne and Governor Crane Declare It Has No Basis in Fact.

The presence of Governor Crane, of Massachusetts, in town yesterday, his calling upon the President at the temporary White House, and his holding a long conference with Postmaster General Payne, vice chairman of the Republican national committee, gave rise to a report that the chairmanship of that committee for the next Presidential campaign was under discussion. When queried regarding this report Governor Crane said to a Washington Times reporter:

"There is nothing whatever in such a story. You see, I was with the President at the time of the Pittsfield accident, and called on him today to see how he is getting along and to talk over that affair."

"The President is a cheerful as usual, and is progressing finely. The national committee chairmanship was not mentioned in any way during our talk."

Postmaster General Payne was even more emphatic in making the same denial. He said:

"That subject was not mentioned between myself and the governor, nor the President and myself, nor the President and the governor."

RELIEF FOR MINERS CHIEF UNION TOPIC

Open-Air Meeting in Aid of Strikers to Be Held Next Sunday—Arrangements for a Concert Being Made.

The Central Labor Union held its regular meeting at Typographical Temple last night. It was announced at the meeting that the twenty-second annual convention of the American Federation of Labor will be held at Odd Fellows' Hall, New Orleans, La., beginning at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, November 13.

The Columbia Lodge of Machinists has addressed a letter to the central body asking that more urgent steps be taken to afford relief to the miners in the Pennsylvania coal fields. This organization has given $200 before having sent donations of clothing and food.

The relief committee of the Central Labor Union has announced that there will be held an open-air meeting in the interest of the striking miners at the corner of Seventh Street and Market Square Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The committee is also making arrangements to hold a Sunday night concert at Chase's Theater Sunday night, October 12, at which time Haley's Band will be present and contribute several numbers as well as professional talent of all sorts. The proceeds from this entertainment will be sent to the relief of the miners.

COURT RELEASES KLEIN

Denies the Claim of Maryland Hospital for the Insane.

CONFLICT OF TWO STATES

An Appeal Taken, Which Will Be Argued Tomorrow—Plaintiffs Are Defeated.

Judge Love, sitting in the Alexandria county courthouse, at Fort Myer Heights, Va., late yesterday afternoon denied the right of the Maryland officials to the person of George Klein, Jr., the escaped murderer from the Maryland Hospital for the Insane, and allowed him to return to his home.

District Attorney Sopher, together with Assistant Counsel Mackey and Moncreu, filed a motion for an appeal, and the case will be heard in the Alexandria circuit court tomorrow. Mr. Sopher, accompanied by Mr. J. Percy Wade, the superintendent of the Maryland Hospital for the Insane, and Detective Sergeant Coughlin and Hogan, of the Baltimore detective force, returned to the Monumental City at 7 o'clock last night.

In discussing the ruling of the court, Attorney Sopher said:

"Judge Love decided the case against Maryland, although, of course, in my opinion, we should have secured our man. We shall not give up the contest for Klein. On the contrary, we shall put up the fight of our lives. The case was practically settled, and the decision by Judge Love was based entirely on the question of the prisoner's sanity. That was a feature of the hearing that, in my opinion, did not enter into the case. He was a fugitive from justice, and we are certainly entitled to him, and will get him."

Klein Family Happy.

It was a happy group—the Klein family—when Judge Love announced his decision. Surrounded by his wife, father, mother, sister, and brothers, the fugitive held an informal reception. He was all smiles as he fled out of the court room after thanking Judge Love and his attorneys, Colonel Smith and Judge Pelham, for their earnest work in his behalf. He announced that he had returned home for good, and will stay with his family on their large farm at Bailey's Cross Roads.

Owing to the fact that the Tighe arson case, an outgrowth of the burning of Jackson City, was being tried in the courthouse earlier in the morning, the Klein case suffered a delay of more than an hour in opening. However, the counsel for both sides were determined that the matter, so far as taking Klein back to Baltimore was concerned, should be closed today.

When all the evidence was in, the attorneys for both sides, without argument, announced that they were ready to hear Judge Love's opinion and decision. The court said:

"This case is one where a party who has committed no crime, but has escaped from a hospital for the insane in Maryland, has come to his home in Virginia. The petitioners have rested their arguments on the powers of the insane asylum authorities. If their contention is right, there is nothing for the court to do but to turn the defendant, George Klein, over to the Maryland authorities." Here Judge Love quoted extensively from the Constitution of the United States, and continuing he said: "Maryland has no jurisdiction in Virginia. Here I might state that the question goes further than a mere transfer; it is in reality depriving a citizen of Virginia of personal liberty, for which our country has fought so hard for years."

Criticized Authorities.

Judge Love found fault with the manner in which the Maryland authorities had acted, saying that the request for the extradition of the fugitive had been made by the hospital authorities instead of by the governor, but added that even that official had no right to ask such a thing from Virginia, according to the Constitution of the United States.

"No one," he continued, "has more respect for the courts or citizens of Maryland than I. No one has more love for them. Under the circumstances, however, I feel that in this case I shall have to quash the proceedings."

There was great confusion in the courtroom. The Maryland attorneys were visibly surprised, but District Attorney Sopher asked a suspension of judgment. This was denied by Judge Love in a few words. Mr. Sopher then asked that Klein be bonded, pending an appeal, but after an hour or more of argument this request was denied. A plea for a new hearing in the circuit court was entered.

The new fight promises to be an exceedingly hot one, in fact, of a warmer character decidedly than the one which has just ended, and which may possibly bring into the conflict the governors of both States.

PEARY NOW A COMMANDER

Arctic Explorer Advanced by Navy Department.

ASSIGNED TO ACTIVE DUTY

Will Soon Arrive With His Wife From New York and Open Home.

Robert E. Peary, Arctic explorer and civil engineer in the navy, who is daily expected back to Washington from a five years' trip in search of the North Pole, was yesterday advanced in rank to be a commander. He was formerly a civil engineer, with rank of lieutenant commander. The promotion is the result of the natural advance of officers of the navy, caused by vacancies higher up the scale. The new commission dates from April 6, 1902.

Commander Peary had been on leave of absence for five years. His return is expected daily at the Navy Department, where it has been decided to immediately assign him to active shore duty. Just what the character of this duty will be has not been decided, and will not be until Commander Peary returns and confers with Rear Admiral Endicott, chief of the Bureau of Steam Engineering.

"Commander Peary will enter active duty," said Admiral Endicott yesterday. "That much has been decided. What sort of duty it will be I cannot tell until I have seen him."

Leave of Absence Extended.

Commander Peary went on leave for the purpose of organizing and starting out upon his Polar expedition five years ago last spring. His leave terminated May 27, 1902, but was extended six months to enable him to enter the Marine Hospital here if he found this necessary upon his return. He reached New York a few days ago, was met there by his wife, and with her went to Portland, Me., where he has been engaged in settling his mother's estate, she having died during her son's absence. Admiral Endicott received a letter from Commander Peary last Thursday, in which the explorer said he would be in Washington within a few days.

Commander Peary's home, 2412 Twelfth Street northwest, is in readiness for the return. During Peary's absence it has been kept open, waiting for his return with his husband. Mrs. Peary's family, which resides in Washington, is in Europe, and on this account the homecoming of Commander Peary will be quiet. No official reception will be held, and so far as known there will be no special social demonstrations. The couple will simply return to Washington and live quietly at home.

Said to Have Lost Toes.

It will probably not be decided for several days what Commander Peary will do in the immediate future. It is understood at the Navy Department that the explorer suffered the loss of several toes while North, and that he may desire to go to the hospital for a few weeks. As his leave does not expire until the latter part of November, this could be arranged without interference in any plans for active duty which may be decided upon.

The demand for civil engineers in the navy is great at present. They are needed to superintend improvements, repairs, extensions, etc., at the various Government navy yards and coaling stations. It is probable that Commander Peary will be detailed to work of this character, either at home or abroad.

Mr. Peary now stands fourth from the head of the list of civil engineers. While having the rank of commander, his title still remains that of civil engineer, only officers of the line having the purely military designations.
